Inserting an Image

1 Click the Insert Resources.

2 The Insert Resources dialog is now opened. Select an image.

3 If you select Insert as a thumbnail, SiteManager will display a thumbnail version of the image at the size you specify in the drop-down list.

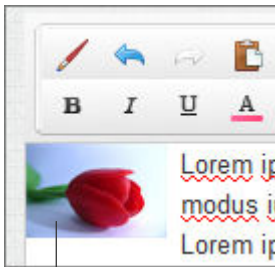

4 Here you can give a link to the thumbnail that will open the actual image.

5 A cool reflection effect can be added to the thumbnail.

6 Click Insert.

The screenshot shows the SiteManager interface with the 'Insert Resources' dialog box open. The dialog box has a 'General' tab and a 'Create Folder' button. It displays a list of files on the left, including 'blog_cat...', 'blog_dat...', 'boxheade...', 'binBuyNo...', 'tea_cup...', and 'Tulip...'. The 'Tulip...' file is selected. On the right, the 'Source' is '/InsiteCreation/resources/site1/General/Tulip...'. The 'Title' field is empty. The 'Insert actual image' option is selected. The 'Insert as a link' option is also selected. The 'Insert as a thumbnail' option is selected, and the size is set to '70x70 px'. The 'with link to open actual image' checkbox is checked. The 'Align' dropdown is set to 'Left'. The 'Enable reflection' checkbox is checked. The 'Delete selected files' button is at the bottom left. The 'Browse...' button is at the bottom center. The 'Upload File' button is at the bottom right. The 'Close' button is at the bottom right. The 'Insert' button is at the bottom right.

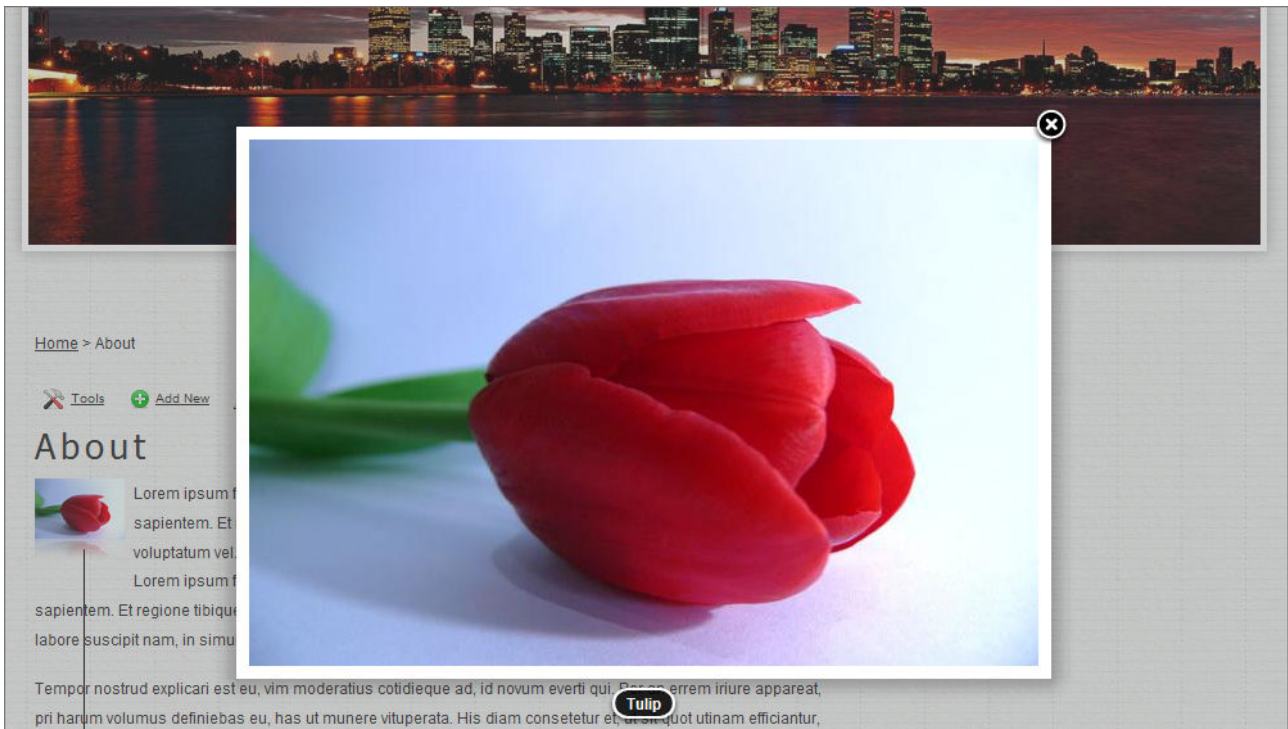

7

Here is the inserted Image.

8

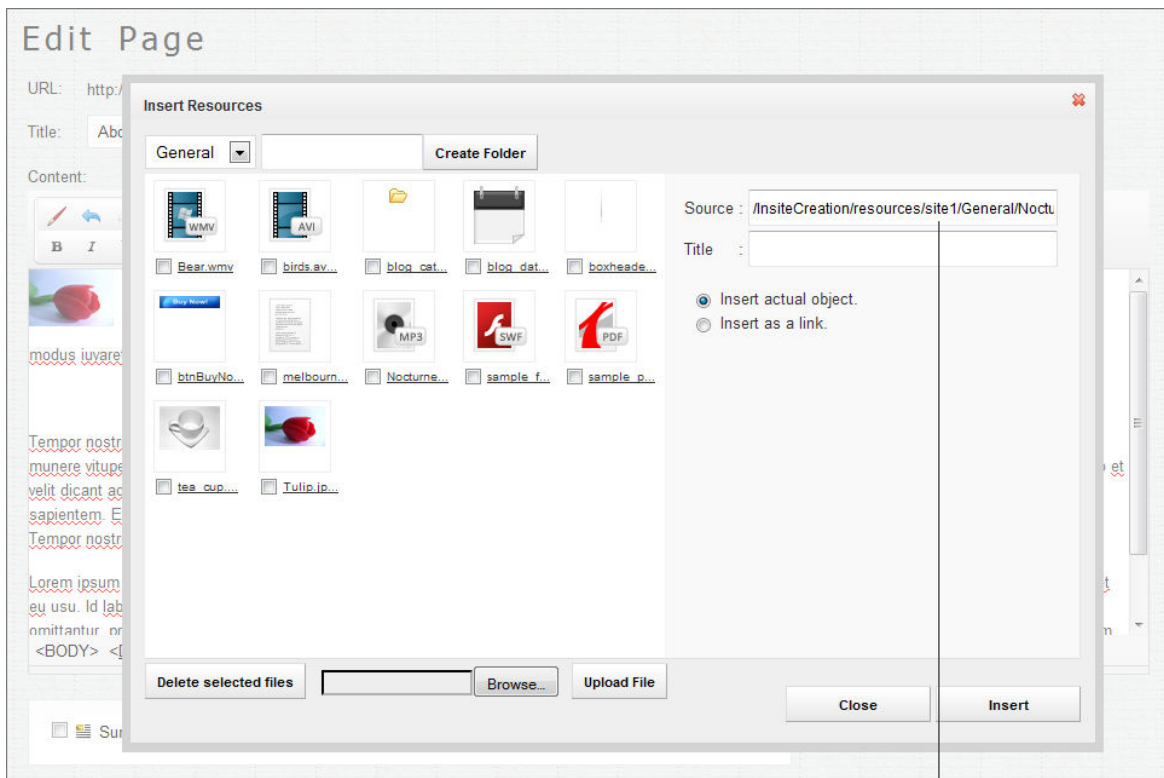

Publish the page to see the result.

9

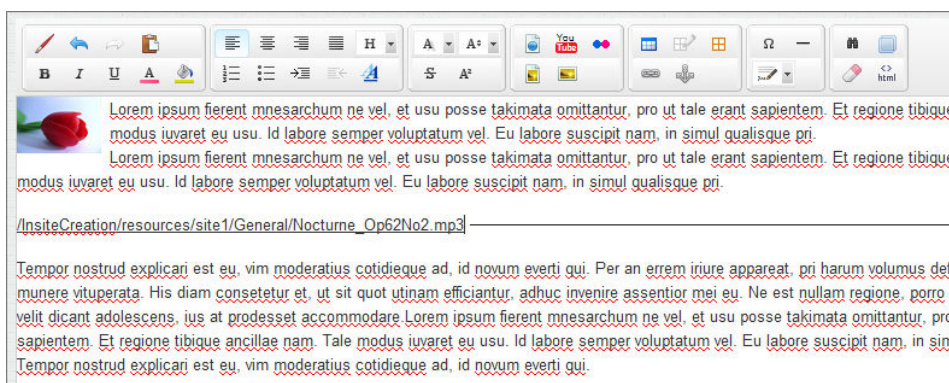

Finished! A thumbnail is inserted. This is a real thumbnail (not a resized image). If you click on the thumbnail, the actual image is displayed in a smooth lightbox (no new windows or page reloads required).

Using the same steps, you can select and insert a music file.

1

2

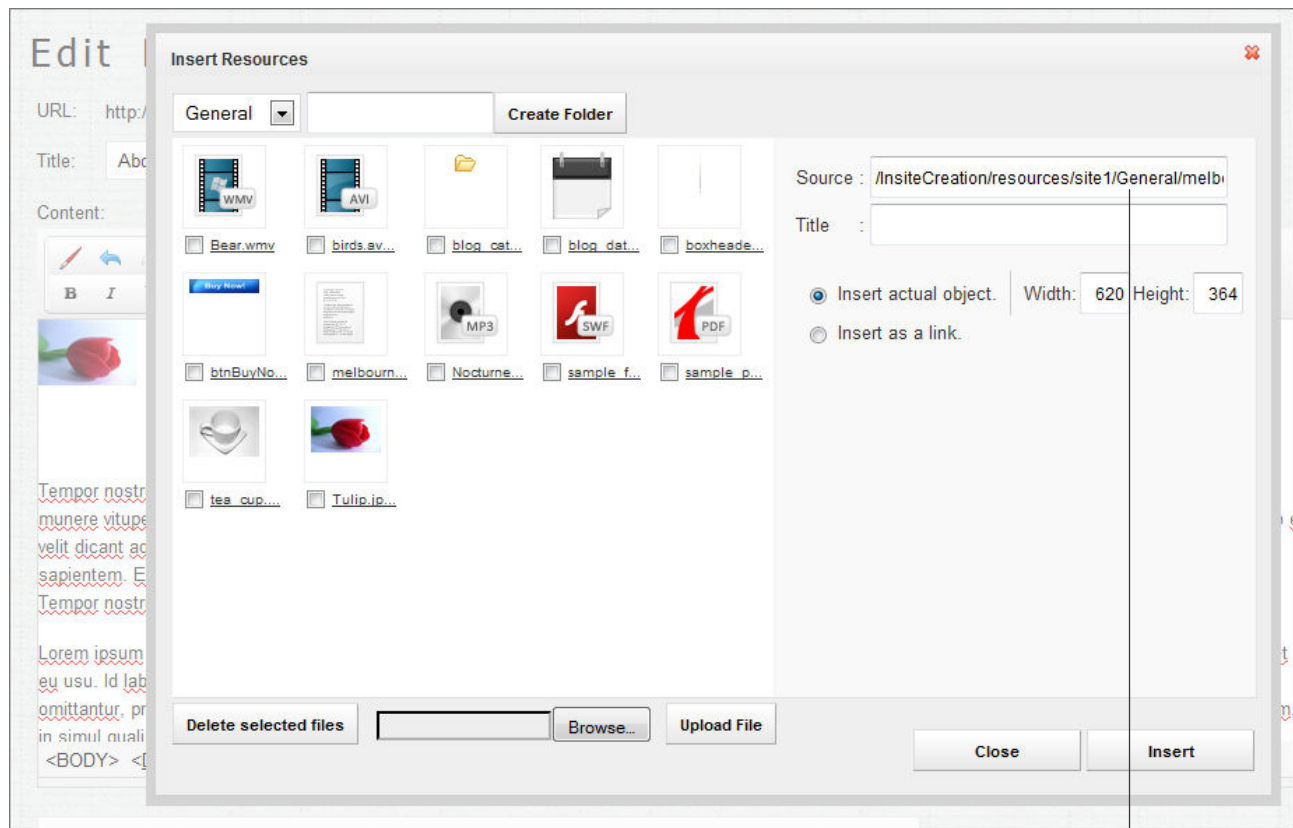

A link to the music file is inserted.

Modules

SiteManager has various built-in modules for you to embed on any page on your website. With modules, you can extend your website functionalities with various applications such as Forum, Event Calendar, Newsletter Subscription, Custom Form, Custom Listing, etc.

Embedding a Module on a Page

If you are logged in with a Module Manager or Administrator role, switch page to Design Mode.

Switch to Design Mode.

The screenshot shows a website interface in Design Mode. At the top right, a dropdown menu labeled 'Design Mode' is highlighted with an orange box. Below the header, there is a navigation bar with links: 'home', 'products', 'about', 'support', and 'media wall'. The main content area features a large image of a sunset over the ocean. Below the image, there are three icons: 'Create New Design', 'Design Properties', and 'Design Manager'. The 'Home' section is visible, containing placeholder text. Two orange boxes highlight the 'Add Module' icon (a gear with a plus sign) in the bottom right corner of the page. A line points from the text 'Add Module icon will be displayed in Design Mode.' to one of these icons.

Add Module icon will be displayed in Design Mode.

1 Click the Modules icon.

2 The Modules dialog opens.

3 Click the Add link to embed a module on the page. In this example, try embedding the Newsletter Subscription Form module.

4 Finished! The Newsletter Subscription Form module is embedded. on the page.

Click this button to detach the module from the page.

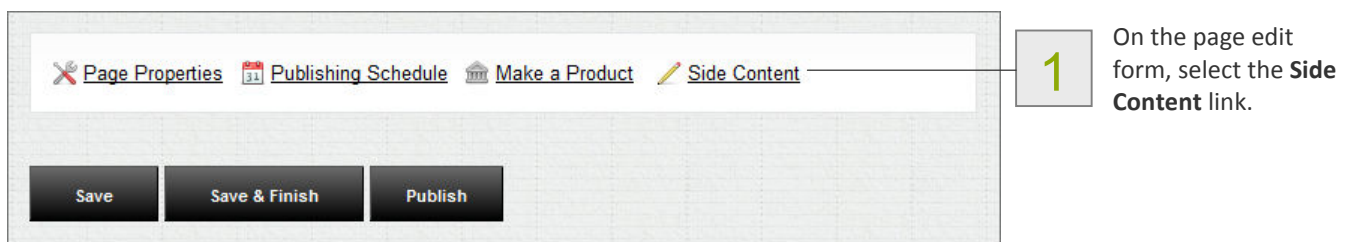

If you have multiple modules embedded, this up/down button will move the position of the module up or down.

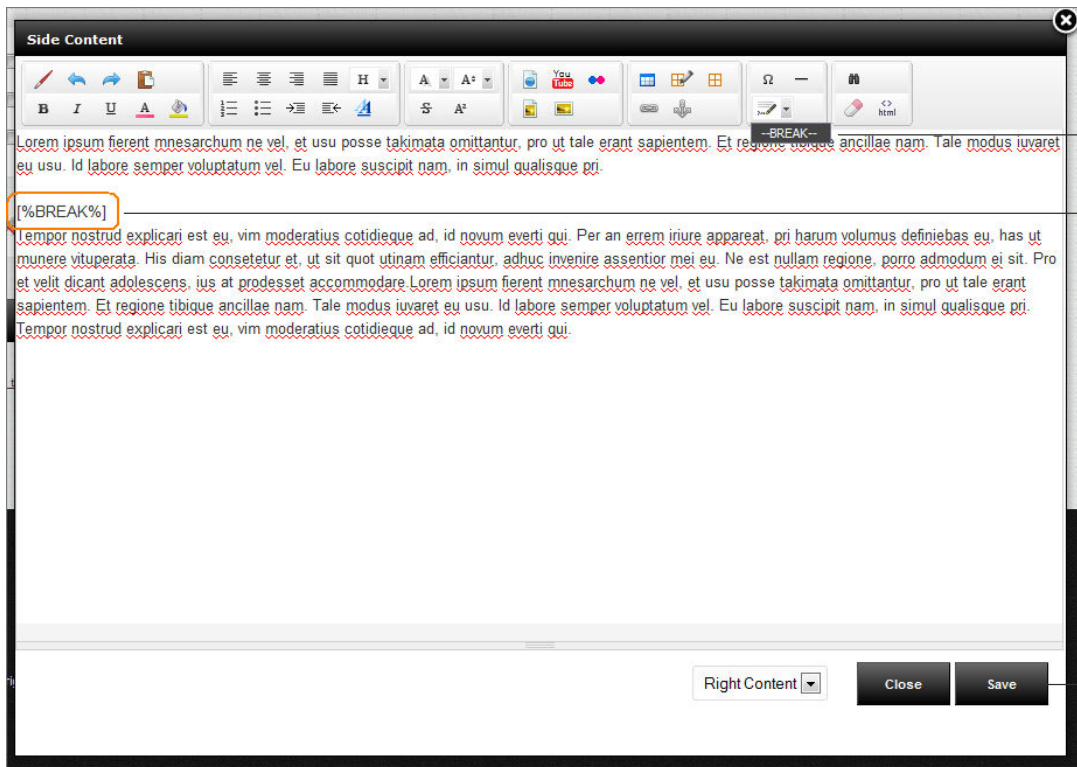

Positioning a Module within Text

If there is text (in the main content or side content), by default, the module will be embedded after the text.

SiteManager gives you the flexibility to position the module anywhere within the text by placing a text break: [%BREAK%] tag (when editing the text).

2 Insert a text break.

Here the [%BREAK%] tag is inserted within the text.

3 Click Save and then publish the page.

4 Now you can see that the embedded module is positioned within the text (specifically where the text break is placed).
